

European Inland Fisheries and Aquaculture Advisory Commission (EIFAAC 2019)

We are excited to announce that the EIFAAC Symposium on Food Safety and Conservation in Inland Fisheries and Aquaculture will take place on Monday to Wednesday, September 09 - 11, 2019

at the Deutsche Hygiene Museum, Dresden, Germany.

The 2019 Fall International Conference represents a unique opportunity to develop and advance inter- and transdisciplinary approaches to pressing issues facing European aquaculture farmers, commercial and recreational inland fishers, fisheries managers and conservationists. Sessions will address novel issues related to food safety and security, product and sustainability certification as well as sustainability and conservation, with a particular emphasis on diadromous species and conservation conflicts.

The event will feature four keynotes and sessions, a get-together on arrival day (September 08) as well as a symposium dinner (September 10) and will be completed with a Field Trip to the Lusatia Region (September 11).